UNITED WE MOVE FORWARD

A Special Message from Bob Stewart

A NEW EUROPE is arising out of the turmoil and devastation caused by the most barbarous war in history. To destroy the might of fascist Germany, Italy and Japan, and curb the power of their satellites and fifth columns throughout the world was a herculean task that demanded feats of endurance, courage, devotion and ability from the peoples of the Allied Nations.

It needed unity on a scale never before achieved and by many deemed impossible. Yet the greatest capitalist states, despite mountains of prejudice and hostility built up over the years since the first world war, united with the first Socialist country as free and equal partners in the common task of destroying fascism's military might—and they certainly made a thorough job of it. The key to that victory was unity for a common purpose.

In Britain unity was achieved between many diverse elements, on the field of battle as in the field, factory and workshop, on a scale never seen before. The Labour movement in Britain in the difficult times ahead must retain and improve upon that unity.

The key question for unity is the question of affiliation of the Communist Party to the Labour Party, which means that all members of trade unions should get equal democratic rights in the Labour Party to which they pay their political levy, that all genuine Labour organisations, of which the Communist Party is a leading one, should be affiliated on the same conditions with equal rights.

The whole world knows that there are differing trends within the Labour movement, but experience of the rising movements in Europe has shown, and is still showing, that where the greatest unity is achieved between Communists and Socialists in the first instance, it brings under their joint leadership the widest masses of people rightly struggling to be free from monopolies and feudal reaction—witness Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, France, Italy, etc.

The coming Labour Party Conference this year can be won for affiliation. The work of the Communist Party is supplemented by the lessons which life is teaching the peoples that are divided. The Labour movement is hampered in its march to Socialism. It can be retarded by the continued infiltration of capitalist ideas and continuities in foreign policy. The winning by the Communists of their rightful place in the composite Labour Party will assure that the theory and practice of the most advanced Socialist elements shall be given voice and vote to speed the march.

THE National Union of Mineworkers has decided to place a resolution on the Agenda of this year's Labour Party Conference being held at Bournemouth on June 10-14, urging that the Communist Party be affiliated to the Labour Party on the same basis as other affiliated organisations.

At the 1943 Labour Party Conference the Miners' Federation Delegates moved a similar resolution, which was lost. Since then they have achieved a greater measure of unity in their own organisation by carrying through the amalgamation of all the District Unions into one National organisation. With a vote of 420,000 they again take the lead in the drive for political working-class unity by pressing for Communist Party affiliation.
